

CREATING HEALTHY COMMUNITIES:

*Advancing health and health equity
through arts and public health collaborations*

CONVENING | OCTOBER 10 - 11, 2022 | Orlando, FL

Sponsorship Spotlight

$2,500 + Equity Sponsor

With the overarching goal of creating stronger, healthier, and more equitable communities through cross-sector collaboration, the 2022 Creating Healthy Communities Convening will engage people working and thinking at the intersections of the arts, public health, and community development.

Against a vibrant backdrop of arts and cultural practices, the gathering will provide opportunities for connection, dialogue, strategic thinking, and learning. It will feature diverse and effective practice, research and policy models from around the world, as well as provocations to advance innovation and progress for building healthier, more equitable communities in the United States.

We are committed to providing full registration scholarships to 200+ attendees, to provide equitable access to the convening for those hoping to foster relationships, learn best practices, and share their lived experiences with the growing field of Arts in Public Health.

DETAILS

- Equity Sponsorship can be made in increments of $2,500, and will support our goal of 200 full registration scholarships.
- Once our scholarships are fully funded, funds will be dedicated for travel stipends to scholarship recipients.

SPONSOR RECOGNITION

- 2 complimentary registrations
- Recognition in press release
- Logo placement on program materials
- Logo placement in on-stage banner
- Logo placement on event website
- Opportunity to provide parting gifts to attendees
- Dedicated social media post

To speak further about sponsorship opportunities, please reach out to our Convening Coordinator Aly Maier Lokuta at alysonpm@ufl.edu, 941-276-0336.

2022 CONVENING WEBSITE: go.ufl.edu/chc-2022

Learn more about our 2019 Creating Healthy Communities conference at arts.ufl.edu/chc-florida

