Course Components for Evaluation

- Weekly Singing Assignments (8 TOTAL)

Students will submit to CANVAS audio recordings of their assigned weekly singing examples. Singing examples will be posted to CANVAS in a weekly assignment module at the beginning of each week. Students will post their audio files to the assignment tab in the corresponding assignment portal for each Weekly Singing Assignment. Students are required to use the moveable do system (including do-based minor) and a metronome for all assigned examples. If a student does not use the above solfege system and/or a metronome, he/she/they will receive half credit on the assignment. Students will not receive credit on the assignment if they utilize a keyboard instrument to play along as they are singing examples. Video files will not be accepted and will result in a zero being assigned!

- Weekly Rhythm Assignments (8 TOTAL)

Students will submit to CANVAS audio recordings of their assigned weekly rhythm examples. Rhythm examples will be posted to CANVAS in a weekly assignment module at the beginning of each week. Students will post their audio files to the assignment tab in the corresponding assignment portal for each Weekly Rhythmic Assignment. Students are required to use a metronome at the assigned tempo during recording and execute the rhythm by using the specified counting method for all assigned examples. If a student does not use a metronome during the recording, he/she/they will receive half credit on the assignment. Video files will not be accepted and will result in a zero being assigned!

- Weekly Dictation Assignments [Auralia and Canvas] (8 TOTAL)

Students will submit weekly dictation assignments through Auralia and/or Canvas. On the Monday of each week an assignment is due, the instructor will post assignment instructions to Canvas and verbally go over the assignment in class. To be prepared for these assignments, students are strongly encouraged to review practice material set up in the Auralia program, review any supplementary instructional resources posted to Canvas as well as participate in class.

- Singing and Rhythmic Sight Reading Tests (3 TOTAL)

During testing weeks (see course outline), students will take a singing and rhythmic sight reading test. These tests will assess students' ability to sing melodies and verbally execute rhythms at sight. Students are required to use moveable do (do based minor included) solfege on the sight singing portion of the test and can transpose the key to better fit their voice, if necessary. They also must conduct a basic pattern while performing the singing example. For the rhythmic sight reading portion of the test, students must count using the appropriate counting method for the meter/rhythms and conduct a basic pattern while counting the rhythm.

- Group Singing Performance

During the last week of school in class, students will perform a short choral work in groups using moveable do solfege. Group assignment as well as piece assignments will be shared by the instructor the week of March 6th. The performance guidelines/rubric will also be shared with students this week as well. Students will be provided two class days to rehearse with their assigned groups and will be responsible for finding additional time to rehearse with group members if that is required to produce a quality performance product.

Course Policies

- ATTENDANCE: Students are expected to attend and participate in class for their singing, rhythm, and ear training skills to successfully progress. Students will be allotted a fixed number of unexcused absences to use at their discretion (see below).
 - For an absence to be excused, the student will need to email the instructor as well as the TA BEFORE class starts and provide valid documentation (for example: doctor's note, appointment confirmation, etc.) for missing class (religious holidays, school sponsored trips, or absences cleared/approved in advance by the instructor count as excused)
 - 4 unexcused absences allotted to students to use at their discretion (that's two weeks of class!). The instructor/TA does not need to be notified for these types of absences.
 - Each additional unexcused absence after 4 will result in the following:
 - 5 unexcused absences: Final grade drops by half a letter grade
 - 6 unexcused absences: Final grade drops by an entire grade
 - 7 unexcused absences: Final grade drops by a letter grade and a half
 - 8 unexcused absences: Final grade drops by two letter grades
 - 9 or more unexcused absences: Failing grade assigned
 - Students are responsible for meeting assignment deadlines during weeks they have unexcused absences.
 - If a student encounters a personal/medical difficulty that will impact their ability to attend class, it is imperative that the student reaches out to the instructor as soon as possible in order for a solution to be worked out.
- ELECTRONIC DEVICES: Tablets may be utilized during class time for notational and/or textbook (i.e. PDF version of singing textbook) reading purposes. However, cell phones, laptop computers, and other electronic devices are not to be used in class as they disrupt students' attention and distract both fellow classmates and the instructor. If students need to use their phone, they are welcome to quietly leave the classroom and return when finished. Any student who has a documented disability requiring use of an electronic device apart from a tablet during class must notify the instructor as soon as possible.

- Students are expected to come to class on time and prepared from sufficient work/practice outside of class.
- Students are expected to come to class prepared with the appropriate materials (i.e. pencil/manuscript paper/textbooks). During testing weeks, textbooks and other materials are not required for class.
- Students are strongly encouraged to use online resources and lectures (as shared and posted on Canvas by the instructor), programs in the Music Computer Lab (MUB 147), the Auralia program, and any other ear training resources to aid in their understanding of the course material and to aid in their ability to successfully complete assignments.
- If the instructor/TA finds that students are being disruptive to the teaching environment, the following may occur:
 - Assigned seating for the entire class
 - Dismissal of disruptive students from the classroom
 - Follow up with Dean of Student Office/Incident report
- COMMUNICATION POLICIES:
 - The instructor and graduate teaching assistant will utilize email and Canvas as the main form of communication. Students are expected to respond to their instructor and TA's emails in a timely manner.
 - It is expected that students check their email and Canvas multiple times a week to not miss important announcements, postings, assignment instructions/deadlines, etc.
 - Students are strongly urged to confer with the instructor on their progress or any issues or questions regarding the course. Also, students are encouraged to seek out help from the instructor and/or graduate teaching assistant (TA) as soon as they encounter any difficulties. Do not wait until the end of the semester to consult the professor and/or TA if you are having troubles! To communicate with your instructor, use your UF email account or Canvas. Students can meet with the instructor or TA during scheduled office hours, or with the instructor/TA during a mutually agreed upon outside office hour appointment (over zoom or in-person).
- ASSIGNMENT AND TESTING POLICIES:
 - All assignment guidelines and submittals will be available on Canvas (note: multiple weekly dictation assignments will need to be completed on the Auralia platform, outside of Canvas).
 - Flexible Deadline Offering: The instructor recognizes that some weeks are more challenging than others for students and will extend a flexible deadline for two (2) weekly assignments (dictation/singing/rhythm). The following conditions must both be met in order for a flexible deadline to be extended:
 - The student must email both the instructor and TA BEFORE the weekly assignments' deadline to request a flexible deadline.
 - The student must include in the email a reasonable deadline* (exact day/time) when they believe it will be possible to complete the assignments (*reasonable deadline will be at the discretion of the instructor/TA and will be discussed with the student if any issues)

- Late assignment policy: For each day an assignment is submitted late it will lose an entire letter grade off the overall earned grade. If not submitted by the end of the third day after the assignment deadline, a zero will be assigned.
- Late arrival to testing appointment: Students, if arriving late, will be extended ONE opportunity to make up a singing and rhythmic sight-reading test immediately after the class period has ended or during the class period if a testing time slot is available (if not possible, the student will need to arrange to come in during the instructor's scheduled office hours that same week). Any unexcused late arrivals to a testing appointment after the first time will result in the student forgoing their ability to makeup the test.
- To make up a missed test, the following conditions must all be met:
 - The instructor will require timely notification (BEFORE the missed test) through email
 - A documented excuse note
 - Initiative on the student's part to schedule a makeup test within a timely manner.
