About the Performer

Dick van Dijk (b. 1962) studied carillon at the Netherlands Carillon School in Amersfoort and the Royal Carillon School "Jef Denijn" in Mechelen. He is city carillonneur of Nieuwegein. As organist, he is attached to the Oude Willibrordkerk in Vleuten, where he plays the 19th-century Batz organ. He is also organist of the Grote of Sint Janskerk in Wijk bij Duurstede. There he has at his disposal a 17th-century instrument by Kiespenning and a 19th-century instrument by Harrisson & Harrisson.

He has long been active in the Utrechtse Klokkenspel Vereniging and was one of the founders of the Utrecht Guild of Bellringers. He is currently a board member of the foundation 'Utrecht Orgelland' and the foundation 'De Zingende Toren'. This foundation manages the glass carillon in Utrecht Leidsche Rijn. For his contributions to the art of carillon, he was appointed Member in the Order of Orange Nassau in 2009.
