COURSE OBJECTIVES This course is holistically designed as a guide for the thesis project. As such, the objectives include a range of activities, many iterative, which are required to conduct a complex project that is scholarly and creative. The course objectives include:

1. Learn to develop a complete project-in-lieu-of-thesis proposal, including a rationale, research questions, antecedents (influences)/literature review, methodology, structure & timeline
2. Design and develop the project within an identified context
3. Identify and apply research methods to achieve desired outcomes
4. Conduct appropriate, responsible, and participatory research based on the project methodology
5. Develop and produce design deliverables that function respectfully within their intended communities and contexts.

SEMESTER SCHEDULE This is an individualized plan and will be created in consultation with the instructor during the first two weeks of the semester. The schedule must include a plan for two check-ins with your entire committee or similar interactions, and weekly check-ins with your chair is preferred, although you may check-in more often. Prepare to assess your progress every four weeks so you might adjust your schedule accordingly. .

UNDERSTANDING DESIGN IN CONTEXT Students are encouraged to employ critical thinking and to rely on data and verifiable sources to interrogate all assigned reading, materials, and subject matter in this course as a way of determining whether they agree with their classmates and/or their instructor. No lesson is intended to espouse, promote, advance, inculcate, or compel a particular feeling, perception, viewpoint, or belief.

GRADING This is a S/U course. See the current UF grading policies for assigning grade points. The purpose of grading and evaluation is to pinpoint the strengths and weaknesses of your work. To this end, I can only respond to what is observable. A grade of C or better is Satisfactory. Time and deliverable allocation can be a question. You will have seen other projects, so plan for a deliverable similar in quality and quantity, but know yours might differ. Expect to do the same amount of work assigned in GRA 6930 or GRA 6931C for 3 credits and multiply that work process and product by the number of credits you are enrolled for.

Satisfactory (S)

- Exceptional to an average level of conceptual/theoretical, formal, and technical work appropriate for project exploration.
- Using evidence and data to support arguments.
- Working with people responsibly and effectively to inform your project work.
- Making that is consistent with the requirements and objectives listed above.
- Consistent exploration, iteration, and production.
- Clear writing adhering to a recognized style guide.
- A high commitment to project development as demonstrated through design process and semester deliverables.
- Seeking and incorporating feedback from chair and others
- Organized visual, verbal, and written presentation of materials

Unsatisfactory (U)

- Below the average level of conceptual/theoretical, formal, and technical work appropriate for project exploration and inconsistent with the requirements and objectives listed above.
- Unclear writing or writing that does not follow a conventionally accepted style.
- Inconsistent production.
- Outcomes demonstrate little commitment to project development.
- Limited feedback or feedback not incorporated into the project.
- Unclear or unorganized visual, verbal, and written presentation of materials

ATTENDANCE Requirements for meeting attendance, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies. See the UF Attendance Policy. Attending regular meetings with your chair and others as scheduled is expected. Excused absences follow university guidelines and may include illness, serious family emergencies, special curricular requirements, military obligation, severe weather conditions, religious holidays, and participation in official university activities or court-imposed legal obligations. If you have a delay, please contact the instructor by Teams, email, or text before our meeting time if possible. Makeup Work: A consistent process is important to meet the overall timeline. Makeup work is allowed in the event of an excused absence. However, this does not alter end-of-semester or Graduate School deadlines.

SEMESTER TIMELINE Typically, you will schedule weekly meetings with your supervisory committee chair. Depending on the semester, group meetings or other feedback sessions might better serve you. Since you will be dedicating significant time to your project, plan to think agilely — assess what’s working and what can be improved every two to four weeks. Focus on a growth mindset, knowing that your work process may have ebbs and flows, and strive for a balance and not “all or nothing” approach, where if something doesn’t work, you abandon it without further thought. The latter are times to consult your chair, committee members, and peers — whoever can assist. A timeline with key dates and topics will be developed individually, using the schematic below as an initial framework. The timeline includes the following content and whatever else you want to add. While the timeline here is for the Fall semester, plan to sketch out the entire year (with your oral defense scheduled for the first week of April next year). Plan to schedule your committee meetings, including the defense. Schedule check-ins with committee members and meet with other faculty as needed.

UF RELIGIOUS HOLIDAYS POLICY

Students, upon prior notification of their instructors, shall be excused from class or other scheduled academic activity to observe a religious holy day of their faith. Students shall be permitted a reasonable amount of time to make up the material or activities covered in their absence. Students shall not be penalized due to absence from class or other scheduled academic activity because of religious observances.

IN-CLASS RECORDING

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor. A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session. Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

Note the instructor may also record the course. This instructor finds recording a helpful memory aid to improve the student experience, the course itself, and to inform both her teaching and research. Assume this course is being recorded for her notes.

UNIVERSITY HONESTY
POLICY

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment." The Conduct Code specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor in this class.

TECHNOLOGY, COURSE FEES, AND EQUIPMENT USE

With questions related to your computer system and technology (network, printers) in the graphic design studio(s), you can contact the program's Senior Teaching Lab Specialist — Michael Christopher (mchristo@ufl.edu) via email or Teams. He can help diagnose problems and recommend solutions.

EXCELLENT PRACTICES

1. Be open and constructive. Critique ideas, not people.
2. You are all colleagues—friendship is a bonus. Be community-minded.
3. Work hard to guarantee that the studio and graphic design area are safe and brave spaces for all. Respect personal differences, elevate, and celebrate diversity.
4. The studio is a creative, professional workplace. It is not your home. Respect and maintain this space.
5. Respect each other by listening to your music on headphones during individual design sessions and keeping your desk, row, and communal areas clean.
6. Recycle paper, bottles, and cans. Reuse other materials.
7. Throw away trash. Do not leave food lying around. We ask that you be attentive to cleaning up and throwing away food remains—preferably in the hallway trash cans.
8. Never use or harm animals or the environment in your projects. Using animals in your design projects is strictly regulated and prohibited unless you have UF approval. Keep in mind I will never authorize this for a design project. For more information, see <http://www.arts.ufl.edu/resources/forms/forms1.html>
9. When working in the evening or when a few students are present, you should keep the studio door closed. Do not reveal the door passcode to anyone outside of the program. Never leave the studio open and unattended.
10. Cell phones should be turned to vibrate or low ring mode during class. If you must take a phone call, do so in the hallway or production room to minimize disruption. If you have an emergency, you may also use my office.
11. If you encounter other problems in the classroom or studio, first speak with your instructor outside of class or speak with the DGS.
12. Access to individual classrooms, laboratories, and studio facilities is limited to those enrolled in the program. If you notice any strangers, feel free to question or report them to the University Police. See <http://police.ufl.edu>. Dial 911 for emergencies or 352-392-1111 otherwise. Let's take care of each other.
